

3

For the first time, we could see that the two peak years of income inequality were 1928 and 2007. In both of those years the top 1% took home over 23% of income.